HERE IT IS! PROOF POSITIVE THAT THE BIGGEST BRAINS AT MARVEL --- DON'T KNOW WHAT THEY'RE DOING!

ITEM! Now that you're starting to recover from the sensational shock of seeing CAP-TAIN AMERICA and the Incredible HULK in their own magnificent mags - hold tight! Here comes the next dazzling development in the Second Golden Age of Marvel -! On sale right now you'll find three (count 'em. THREE!) more titanic titles to boot you out of your tree! You guessed it - IRON MAN and SUB-MARINER have just been awarded full-length, monthly mags of their own and adventuredom will never be the same! You know how valuable a first edition of any other Marvel masterpiece would be today ... such as the first edition of FANTAS-TIC FOUR, or the Amazing SPIDER-MAN... well, just imagine how much IRON MAN #1 and SUB-MARINER #1 will be worth after you've kept them for a while! One thing you can't even begin to imagine is the excitement, drama, and suspense we've jam-packed into each gala premiere ish! So, why waste time with any more chatter? They're on sale now! They're great! Get 'em!

ITEM! But, we mentioned THREE new titles. didn't we? (Thought we goofed again, huh? Nyahh!) Well, here's the other one you've been eagerly awaiting - possibly the biggest, fastest smash-hit to come along since NOT BRAND ECHH! So overwhelming has been the reaction to the new star of MAR-VEL SUPERHEROES, that we've been forced to give none other than CAPTAIN MARVEL his own full-length monthly mag -starting now! Yessir, he's on sale at this very minute, proving once again that what a Marvel fan wants - he GETS! And even THAT isn't all! Read on, rapscallion --

ITEM! We had to do something with MAR-VEL SUPERHEROES since we kicked C. M. upstairs, and do something we did! We've decided to use this giant-sized, 25¢ bimonthly mag as a vehicle for experimentation, and for presenting the most off-beat strips of all, both old and new, So, just for starters, we're featuring a brand-new, never-before-presented, full-length adventure of SPIDER-MAN in the issue of MAR-VEL SUPERHEROES which is now on sale! However - it's a different type of Spider-Man - drawn by a different artist - just as an experiment. We couldn't decide what to do with it-so, instead of keeping it hidden on a shelf, we thought we'd present it to you and see what you think. The story line is somewhat offbeat and not the usual Spidey adventure, and it's-ahh, why bother! You'll see for yourself in M.S.H. #14!

ITEM! And, speaking of new titles, maniacal Marvel has put together a totally different type of publication, just for a lark! It's a hilarious, laugh-packed illustrated joke book called "GROOVY"! It's on sale now. for no more than the price of any other comic mag-and if laughter's your bag, we urge you to grab a copy. But now, on to other subjects, before you start thinking that we're in this biz for the money!

ITEM! Once again we've received a letter in which we thought all of Marveldom might be interested. So, without any further ado-

Dear Bullpen, I want to compliment all you guys for the great entertainment your mags bring to the invalids and the ill in our nation's hospitals. Being a volunteer worker at a hospital in Philly, I know how lonely some of the patients are, so I gather up all of my doubles and distribute them among the patients. Unfortunately, I've only enough for one floor, so I'm asking all kids with any extra Marvels to bring them to the nearest hospital if they want to make a lot of patients happy.

Thanks from myself and the many patients for the hours of enjoyment you furnish, Sincerely,

> Josh Zissman 6716 N. 17th St. R. Phila., Pa.

Our thanks to you. Josh, for a most worthwhile gesture and a grand idea. May we suggest that all our friends bring Marvel mags - or indeed, ANY worthwhile periodicals - to the nearest hospital as often as possible. You may not get a medal, but it's things like that which make life just a little bit nicer for others-and isn't that really what it's all about?

MORE SURPRISES next ish-plus the final rank of Marveldom for you to memorize and treasure fore'er! But now, since we're running plumb outta room, let's bow our heads for the nonce and think tidy thoughts, as we get into the mood for our sermon of the month, delivered as usual by our grinnin' guru-Smilin' Stan himself -!

STAN'S SOAPBOX!

We TOLD you that Marvel would make '68 the year of the big changes, the big excitement, and the big surprises! Well, believe it or not, there's still more in store for you! We've another couple of new titles to announce on this page next ish - and still more unexpected goodies to dangle before you as the months speed by! It's all part of a promise, a pledge we made a long time ago, when we vowed to continually improve the quality of comic magazines - to make you proud to be a Marvelite, (Incidentally, didja know that more than a dozen college professors thruout America now use Marvel mags in their English Litt. courses as supplemental material? It's only a start - but we're getting there, gang!) Anyway, we're presently working on a totally new magazine, one which may completely change the whole complexion of the comic book format. We expect it to be the most sensational success since Marvel itself first burst upon the public awareness with the impact of an H-bomb! Watch for clues in the months to come, and till we meet again - let's be good to each other. There's gotta be SOME hope for a race that keeps reaching for the stars! - Smiley

TRIUMPHS FOR MARNE NO MORE

Dear Stan, Archie, and Gene,

You stated in a past Soapbox column that you really believe in your heroes. What do you believe Tony Stark is? A sadistic hatemonger? That's how you've presented him. Anybody who turns out disintegration rays and stun machines and a cobalt weapon against which there can be no defense has got to be all bad. For Spidey's sake, quit it! Every other ish Tony creates some new device with a terrific destructive potential. Really, is that any way for a hero in a Marvel mag to act? What's he trying to do—destroy the world? Let him invent something peaceful like an atomic-powered guitar. (Better make that "safe." No atomic-powered guitar's going to be peaceful!)

Chris Barth, John's Lane Ambler, Pa. 19002

Safe, Chris? Suppose the Yardbirds used it for the instrument smashing finale to their act! There'd be a final chord you'd never forget! But to defend Tony Stark and his inventions . . . Not only do we believe in our swinging heroes, but also in our way-out villains, and you've seen some of the wild gadgets they come up with! You can't blame our boy Tony for trying to maintain the balance of power for the good guys' side, can you? He hopes as much as any man that his weapons will never be used! Besides, let's face it, how exciting would you have found the story if Iron Man had been fighting the Grey Gargoyle to prevent his stealing of Tony Stark's latest invention — the cobalt can-opener?

Dear Stan, Archie, and Gene,

Iron Man is by far the most realistic superhero put out by Marvel. This is true in more ways than one. First of all, the realism in Gene's artwork — the pictures almost look as if they were taken by a camera. A few Brand Echh fans may call my statement a wild exaggeration, but I'm sure that there are many Iron Man fans that will agree with me. Also, the scripting on Iron Man has been tremendous lately. I won't bore you with a lot of unnecessary criticisms, but I will ask you a question. Is Iron Man's armor skin-tight, and, if so, are those his real muscles that bulge from the armor or are they built-in??

Richard Carlson, 2506 Linn Ave. Union, N.J. 07083

Iron Man's armor was designed to be form-fitting, Dick, and though Tony Stark is a wall-to-wall whiz when it comes to creating gadgets and gizmoes for his scintillating suit, just about the only thing he didn't build into it was muscles—Those are his own! Not only does the suit augment his injured heart and increase his strength many times above normal, but the exercise involved in wearing and using the armor is great for filling out physiques! (With a slight assist from the power-packed pencil of Gene Colan, natch!)

Dear Stan, Archie, and Gene,

Wow! Was I surprised! While I was visiting a friend, I happened to pick up a past issue of Popular Science, and guess what the cover story was about? It was about metal exoskeletons that will increase the strength of a man a thousandfold. At once I thought of Iron Man and feel that mighty Marvel has scooped science once again. You'd better write for a patent on ol' Shell-Head's armor before they beat you to it.

James Held, 94-16 51st Ave. Elmhurst, N. Y. 11373

Maybe we should, Jim, once we get all the bugs ironed out — but you know how when you least expect it Stan and Gene think of ways to revamp the armor or add new accessories to it, and now that Archie's getting into the act . . . Hooo Boy! Any self-respecting patent official would bar the door once all those amendments to the original design started pouring in! Still, you may have something . . . Wonder how they'd feel about Chris Barth's atomic-powered guitar, or that cobalt can-opener? Mmmmnnn . . .

Dear Stan, Archie, and Gene,

You know what I'd like to know? There's something you have never mentioned to us. What is the address of Tony Stark's mansion that the Avengers use as their head-quarters? What is the address of the Baxter Building? And the barber shop front for Shield? Where does the Wasp live now? The last one I'd really like to know!

Mike Tyler, 1027 Crespi Dr. Pacifica, Cal. 94044

You're a brave soul for trying, Mike, but the last guy to whom we handed out the Wasp's address was attacked by a swarm of flying ants! Since then, we don't give it out anymore—ol' Hank Pym is more jealous than he lets on! We also hesitate to give out the other addresses as there have been so many attacks on the various headquarters! After all, why make things easy for any of our malevolent masters of menace who may be reading this magazine? It's bad enough that we let them have free subscriptions . . . !

Dear Stan, Archie, and Gene,

I've been thinking it over and have decided that Iron Man should be equipped with a Laser (Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation) or a Maser (Molecular Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation). They are basically the same. In a Laser Iron Man would have a weapon (a focused laser is many times hotter than the sun), a light far brighter than man has ever known before (a laser is a million times brighter than the sun), and a communicator (a single laser can carry more radio messages than all conventional radio channels combined). And if you're getting any ideas that a guy made of mirrors or even the Silver Surfer could reflect a laser, you're way off. No mirror or reflecting surface can stop a laser which, as I've mentioned, is hotter than the sun. The mirrors used in making some kinds of lasers must be cooled to over a thousand degrees below zero and then the beam is not even focused yet—the laser is not focused until it has left the machine that produced it and it will not cut unless it is focused, but it will still be brighter than the sun. Also, because a laser must be focused, Iron Man would need an automatic range-measuring and focusing hookup. All lasers are not red. They come in any color that the crystal which produces them is. All lasers are not crystal - there are also electrical ones, and when a laser is used as a camera, it gives perfect pictures in rain and fog-it even gives the first three-dimensional pictures that can be focused in mid-air. Iron Man should certainly Ellis Whitby, 1 Churchill Rd. have one! Conyngham, Pa. 18219

We don't know if Shell-Head will follow your recommendation, Ellis, but you've certainly convinced us to give The Living Laser an even wider berth than we have in the past!

Dear Stan, Archie, and Gene,

I just read SUSPENSE #98 and it was great. Whiplash was the best villain I've seen in a long time. Where did Iron Man get the image reproducer? I want one! The image reproducer ran out of power. Everything Iron Man has runs out of power, especially him. How come in practically every Iron Man story, he runs out of power? Why doesn't he use Ever-Ready batteries? If your lights went out, would Iron Man work?

Dennis McConihay, 1931 Washington Ave. St. Albans, W. Va. 25177

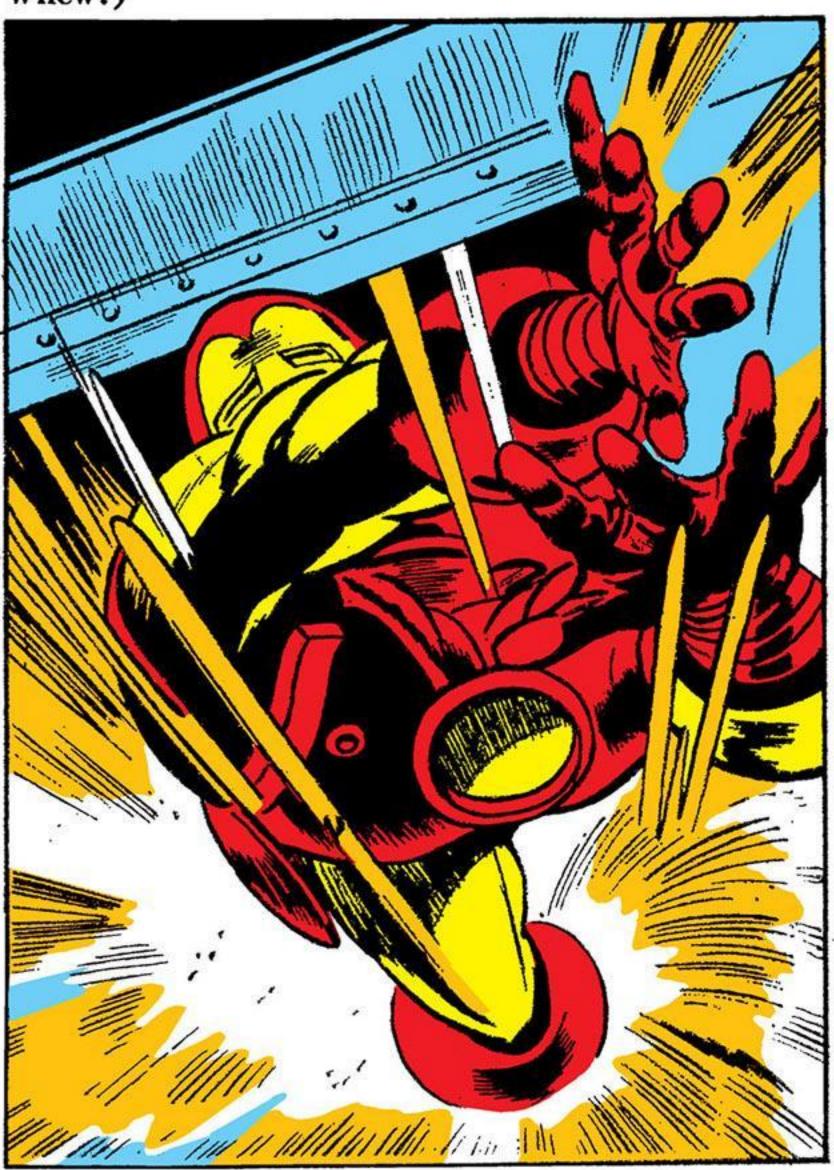

Gee, Denny, if our lights went out, it'd be too dark for us to see if Iron Man would work! Actually, as long as the golden avenger has a full charge, we kinda think he'd work just fine, lights or no! As for his propensity for power failures, this ish's yarn oughtta hit the spot — seventeen pages and not even so much as a tired transistor! Of course, he's shy on juice for a page or so in our awesome Origin Featurette, but what's a few panels among friends?

Dear Stan, Archie, and Gene,

I guess we've seen the last of ol' Iron Man?! When a man is "mortally wounded", he usually dies — unless you goofed slightly on your choice of words, Stan? I prefer the latter — what's a little goof compared to a great big one, like killing off one of your best superheroes? Besides, think of the legal complications if Tony's cuz tried to contest the will, saying that Tony was "non compos mentis" at the time he made it. Rachel Presley, 2960 Ruskin Rd. Memphis, Tenn. 38128

Talk about complications, Rachel! Think of the ones we had trying to find out what "non compos mentis" meant — Artful Archie even managed to drop the legal encyclopedia on Stan's foot, and our luminous leader is now trying to have him declared mentally incompetent! (Anyway, regarding your question as to our choice of words above — wouldja believe we meant to say "critically" wounded and just got carried away? Whew!)

Dear Stan, Archie, and Gene,

Reading has always been a hobby of mine, especially comic-book reading, but never, never in the history of comic magazines have I seen as great a comic company as Marvel. Never have I read more true-to-life stories than yours. Your art is so perfect and realistic that it is beyond mortal words to say how wonderful Marvel comics really are. My greatest and best hero is Iron Man. Why can't he have his own mag? I could just see that—the invincible Iron Man in a mag by himself. Hoo boy! Howszat? Actually I'm writing to ask a question about Iron Man. You said somewhere a long time ago that the old Iron Man was a ponderous half-ton figure. Well then, how heavy is Iron Man now? Wilfred Khan, King St., Princes Town Trinidad, West Indies

The trouble with a guy like Tony Stark, Wilfred, is we can never grab him for long enough to get him on the scales! If he's not belting a baddie or working on his latest whatzis, he's hemmed in by bunnies at the Playboy Club! But until we corner him long enough to find out, you can at least be happy knowing we've answered one of your requests — You're holding Iron Man's "mag to himself" right now! Hope you get as big a boot out of it as we got doing it!
